R. Wayne Kraft is a professor of Materials Science and Engineering at Lehigh University in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania. After receiving a PhD in Metallurgical Engineering from the University of Michigan he served as research scientist at the United Aircraft Corp. and developed novel alloys for aircraft engines. In 1962 Dr. Kraft joined the faculty at Lehigh where he teaches undergraduate and graduate courses. Since 1973 he has also been an adjunct professor of philosophy at Allentown College of St. Francis de Sales in Center Valley, Penna., where he offers courses in Catholic social teaching and Teilhardian thought. Prof. Kraft has authored over fifty technical papers and two books with regard to Teilhard. He is a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and of the American Society for Metals and a recipient of the DeSales Medal from Allentown College. Formerly president of the Bethlehem Council of Churches and lay leader of Cursillo in the Lehigh Valley, he is now a deacon-in-training for the Roman Catholic Diocese of Allentown. His wife Joan is a hospital chaplain; they are the parents of four grown children.
