

Laura Eloe, PhD earned a doctorate in Theology from the University of Dayton in 2019. Her dissertation, titled Loosing the Bound: Pierre Teilhard de Chardin's Analogical Imagination in the Post-Euclidean Tradition, explores the impact of Teilhard's baccalaureate studies in mathematics and his long-time relationship with mathematician and philosopher Édouard Le Roy on his writing. Laura studied Mathematics and Religious Education as an undergraduate and taught Mathematics and Theology at Chaminade Julianne Catholic High School in Dayton, Ohio and Mathematics at the University of Dayton and Utah State University. She has been a member of the Board of the American Teilhard Association since 2020 and is Editor of Teilhard Studies. Currently, Laura is part-time faculty in the Department of Theology and Religious Studies at the University of Dayton.